FAMILY MEDIATION

Sometimes we don't really need counseling to resolve problems. With my mediation skills I can help you workout differences by focusing on solutions. Mediation is often required by the courts when parents are unable to reach agreement on parenting agreements in divorces.

- Mediation allows the participants to resolve their own problems
- Mediation normally costs much less than going to court
- The Mediation process is solution focused

I can help you develop a parenting plan to present as part of your divorce settlement.
